THE NEW RAILWAY.

The Railway that is coming from the East to cross Nevada and reach Los Angeles will pass through Southern Nevada.

The country abounds in mineral wealth, and a railway through it would open up new mines of perhaps a lower grade of ore than those now worked, but which could be profitably worked at lower rates for transportation of ore, fuel and supplies. Besides the mineral wealth of the country there are many square miles of rich grazing land and acres upon acres of soil fit for the farmer and orchardist. This has been considered by the railway company, and its land department is doing a flourishing business at the Los Angeles office.

The Nevada Southern was projected as a branch of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe—so much is certain—but when that company became involved in financial difficulties through the failure of Baring Brothers the Nevada Southern came to a temporary stop. To that time the Nevada Southern had been in course of construction by Santa Fe men; its line had been surveyed by Santa Fe civil engineers and it was actually using Atlantic & Pacific rails and machinery. The road was completed from Goff's station (now Blake's station) on the Atlantic & Pacific to Manvel, thirty-two miles. Manvel is four miles from the Vanderbilt mining district. There it has stopped up to now, but this week a party of Eastern capitalists will inspect it and the road will be built to connect with the Utah Central at either Milford or Frisco. The latter place is now the terminus of the Utah road.

The surveyed route of the Nevada Southern after leaving Manvel, will take it through the Vegas Valley, after tapping the Keystone Mining Districts. Leaving the Vegas valley it will proceed in a general northerly direction through the Muddy valley and the Meadow valley wash to Pioche. This is the real heart of Nevada. From Pioche the line will run almost due east to either Frisco or Milford, probably the former. The road from Frisco to Pioche has been graded and is already for the rails. Iron, copper and coal are to be found along the route in abundance as well as the precious metals.

A COMMON PLACE LIAR.

We doubt if there is a newspaper in Nevada who can tell more lies in a single issue than the Enterprise. When it intimated that the Editor of the APPEAL wanted the anti-lottery plank left out of the platform, it lied with the most studied deliberation.

He never mentioned the question except to speak in favor of an anti-lottery plank to delegates who discussed it as he regards the lottery proposition as one of the dead and buried issues of Nevada politics.

He also quotes the APPEAL as saying that the convention was "cowering and cringing" at the crack of Wallace's whip. No such expression ever appeared in this journal.

Such clumsy falsehoods as these serve no purpose except to call public attention to a newspapers absolute mendacity and stupidity.

There is a great deal of dissatisfaction over the ticket and platform adopted yesterday—among old line Republicans.

The Difference.

The Elko Independent asks: "How can the Republicans say anything about Charley Wallace when they think of their candidate for Governor?"—Silver State.

That is what bothers the Enterprise. There is about as much difference between A. C. Cleveland and Charley Wallace that there is between the full moon and a tallow candle. Sabe?—Enterprise.

Charley Wallace says, the only difference between he and A. C. Cleveland is that Cleveland is a candidate for Governor and he is not.—Journal.

A Gauzy Yarn.

The story published in the Enterprise to the effect that Sen. Stewart drugged a woman and debauched her is too far fetched and ridiculous for any sane person to believe. It is nothing more than a dirty and low-down piece of blackmail, and no paper would print the stuff for any other reason than that of besmearing a man's private character.
